Women in Automobile Production

By Guadalupe Taylor

Women have been involved in automobile production since the union struggles of the 1930s. Later, World War II spawned an increase in the number of female auto workers in the USA from 28,000 in 1941 to 203,000 by 1943. According to US Bureau of Labor Statistics, women hold about 25% of jobs in the motor vehicle and parts industry as of late 2014. Women have also been inventors and pioneers in the automotive industry. Women's inventions and creations include the following:

1. The Car Heater, 1893

Before the electric car heater was created, Margaret Wilcox of Chicago designed a way for the car engine to open and disperse hot air into the front cabin of the vehicle.

2. Brake pads, 1888

Following a family road trip of more than 60 miles in Karl Benz' early automobile, Karl's wife Bertha Benz came up with the design of brake pads to improve the car's stopping capability.

3. Windshield wipers, 1903

In 1903, Mary Anderson from Alabama was granted a patent for her design of manually operated windshield wipers.

4. Wireless transmission technology during WWII

Hedy Lamarr from Austria was a film star who invented a wireless transmission technology that laid the foundation for later technologies such as GPS and WiFi.

The above information was extracted from these online sources:

Walsh, Margaret, "Gender and the Automobile in the US" within "Automobile in American Life and Society:" autolife.umd.umich.edu.

Bailey, Emily, Six Women Inventors and Pioneers in the Automotive Industry, 2016, from "As Featured in Car and Driver:" <https://blog.ggbailey.com/6-women-inventors-pioneers-of-the-automotive-industry>.

Time to Smile

A guy walks into an auto parts store and says to the counter man, "I'd like a set of wiper blades for my Yugo." The counter man thinks for a minute, then replies, "OK, sounds like a fair trade to me."

Question: Why do chicken coops have two doors?

Answer: Because if they had four doors they would be called chicken sedans.

SOME THOUGHTS ON RESTORING A STUDEBAKER

Written by Chuck Lampman, this 99-page book is based on articles written by Chuck Lampman, North Georgia Chapter SDC member, that appeared in Turning Wheels in the early 1990's and won the SDC Churchill Award for Best Article, Non-paid. Some material edited out of Turning Wheels is included in the book as well as updates and several new items written after the Turning Wheels series was published. "Some Thoughts" is aimed at the first-time restorer but will be of value to the more experienced. It is not intended to be a "how to restore" book but gives a look at the decision-making processes, tools, spaces, and basic skills needed to do a restoration. It also provides a framework to help structure a project and contains several chapters of Studebaker-specific advice.

Cost for the book shipped to continental US addresses is $22.50 plus $4.00 for handling and postage. Payment can be made through PayPal sent to chuck@lampman.com or by mailing a check or money order to Chuck Lampman, 4141 Lynette Court, Kennesaw GA 30144-2293.
