PRESIDENT'S PROSE

By Ben Alspach

Thinking About 2014 Goals

Our recent holiday party was quite enjoyable and it was great to count over forty members and friends in attendance. Due to the uncooperative weather, Alan and Rochelle Ziglin's Avanti was, to my knowledge, the only Studebaker in the parking lot; at least we had one car on hand! Thanks to the Millers, Carey's and Delli's for lining up such a fine spot. The food AND the service were both excellent!

Knowing Charlotte's unfailing dedication and efficiency, I'm certain you'll be reading this January issue well before Christmas. However, since our December party is now past, I wanted to use this article to look ahead to 2014. I'm not a big advocate of New Year's resolutions (If a person wants to stop smoking or lose weight, why procrastinate until January 1st?). I do believe in the value of setting goals and this might be a good time to offer some suggestions to consider for next year:

1) Continue to grow our North Georgia Chapter—We did a good job adding new members in 2013 and meeting attendance generally has been strong. However, we need to make sure we keep promoting our club and encouraging existing members to participate. If meetings are interesting and fun, folks will attend!

2) Continue interesting meetings—While on the topic of interesting meetings, we were fortunate to have several excellent special activities and programs in 2013. I know a couple of more such events are on the calendar for early '14 as well. If you're hosting a meeting and have an idea for a speaker or a group visit to a local attraction, GO FOR IT!

3) Host a meeting—If you haven't taken a turn hosting a meeting lately, please consider volunteering. Our members live all over metro Atlanta/ North Georgia, yet there are many places we haven't seen and lots of good restaurants still to be sampled. Hosting isn't difficult; but if you're concerned, consider teaming up with another couple.

4) Drive your Studebaker (especially to meetings)—It's always great to have a nice showing of cars and trucks at our meetings. The display seldom fails to attract attention and usually results in some enjoyable conversations with curious and envious passersby. Even though our own '49 coupe doesn't much like the highway, I try to drive it whenever I can.

Editor's Note: It is so strange to be writing a newsletter for 2014. It feels like it was just yesterday that I was starting the first 2013 newsletter.

This is the time of year for making New Year's resolutions. A good one for the North Georgia Chapter members is to drive our Studebakers more in 2014. I know that sometimes the winter weather and the summer storms can be a little daunting—even in the South—but on the good days we should be getting those Studebakers out on the road. Let others see these beautiful vehicles. As the population ages, we are getting further and further away from those who have any experience with a Studebaker. Keeping this particular dream alive should be a priority for us.

The North Georgia Chapter has an exciting meeting schedule planned for 2014. Big thanks go out to those members who volunteered to host a meeting and to North Georgia member Ann Lee for setting up the schedule and coordinating with the volunteers.

If you have an idea for presentations or programs to make the monthly meetings more interesting, please let Ben Alspach, President, or Wayne Ziemer, Vice-President, know.

Here's to a great 2014!

2 Miles, Only 5 Minutes

By Alan Ziglin

There is an Internet site called MapQuest, which is designed to give driving directions. You enter your starting address and destination and, in addition to giving directions, it lets you know how long the trip is both in distance and time.

When I put my home address and the late Bill Tilden's address into MapQuest, I find that his house is just 2 miles, only 5 minutes away. That's how close I have lived to him for the last 30 years.

I was fortunate enough to spend time with Bill, making contact with him only in recent years. I was able to help with a few minor activities such as helping move some of his vehicles. This provided me an opportunity to talk with him and hear about his personal involvement in the auto industry as well as his thoughtful views on any number of additional topics. I also learned that there is a real possibility that he was responsible for converting the Nash dealership owned by two of my uncles in Baltimore MD into a Chrysler dealership.

Bill was a genuine fountainhead of automotive knowledge. For example, when I was considering buying a Kaiser located in North Georgia, I showed him a picture of the vehicle identification plate located on the firewall. Without consulting any reference documents, he decoded all of the information for me.

I am comforted to know that he no longer has to deal with his failing health and I am truly fortunate to have had the opportunity to spend time with Bill...but I can't help but think how much more I could have learned from him over the last 30 years.

After all, he was just 2 miles, only 5 minutes away!

December 20th marked the 50th anniversary of the closing of the Studebaker operations in South Bend IN when the last Studebaker—a 2 door hardtop—rolled off the assembly line. After 61 years of automotive production in South Bend, Studebaker shifted the remnants of its operation to Hamilton Ontario Canada where it continued until March 16, 1966.

But, the Studebaker legacy lives on with SDC Chapters like North Georgia that are dedicated to keeping the dream alive. What did you do with your Studebaker today?

STUDEBAKER SPOTLIGHT DESIGN A STUDEBAKER

(The pictures included in this feature and on Page 1 were reprinted from the Studebaker National Museum web site with written permission.)

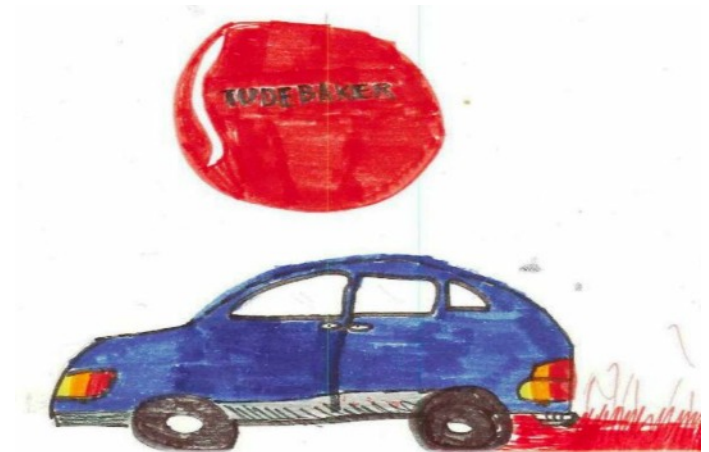

The Studebaker National Museum sponsored its sixth annual "Design a Studebaker" contest in 2013. Using any artistic medium from black and white drawings to computer aided design (CAD), the contestants created their vision of what a Twenty-first Century Studebaker would look like.

There were four competition categories: Ages 11 and under, ages 12 to 16, ages 17 to 20 and ages 21 and over.

The pictures of the first place winner and the runner up for Age 21 and over are shown on page 1 of this newsletter. The winners from the other categories are shown below.

TECHNICAL TOPICS

(The following Technical Topic is reprinted with permission from the December 2013 issue of the Big Sky Bulletin, the newsletter of the Yellowstone Chapter, Bernie Harris, Editor)

Old Man Winter is Comin'

Winter is coming. Without going through all the do's and don'ts that most people should know by now, here are a few suggestions that folks may not necessarily remember:

- 1) If you flushed your cooling system, remember to run some antifreeze through the heater core. If you do not, it will freeze and the core will burst.
- 2) Remember, for all those with generators and distributors with "oilers," now is the time to give them a squirt of oil. According to the shop manual, you are suppose to do this once a year for every 20,000 miles.
- 3) For those of you who have exposed type heater cores that will allow leaves and debris to enter, you need to keep them cleaned out so that air passage is not impeded.
- 4) Batteries take their toll in winter. Make sure yours is "topped off" with distilled water and fully charged.

In addition,

- a) If your car had water leaks into the cab, take time to dry the carpets before storing the car for winter.
- b) Leave a slight gap between the glass on the doors and the frame to allow air to get into the car. If the side vents work and have screens on them, they may be left open. The screens are necessary to keep mice from entering the car.
- c) Start and run engine periodically and operate until engine is full operational temperature. While this is happening, pump on the brake pedal to move the pistons and cups in the master and wheel cylinders to prevent corrosion from actively taking place in the cylinders. Remember, what is happening inside the cylinders is not visible from the outside.
- d) If you are parking your car in an underground parking area where there are many cars coming and going throughout the course of the day, the exhaust from the cars will cause deterioration on your Stude's chrome. The unburned carbon plus the moisture in the air creates acid to attack the chrome. You have a choice 1) Wipe the chrome often to keep it clean, or 2) Apply a coating to protect the chrome. FLUID FILE, a bit messy but claims to be a rust and corrosion inhibitor and CRC also has a product that may be suitable. Wax or chrome wax also will work.

Some car collectors believe that fertilizer should not be stored in the garage with cars. They think that the presence of the fertilizer causes chrome to deteriorate.

5) Bring a friend—Even if someone is not a "member prospect," please don't hesitate to bring friends or visiting relatives to our meetings. It's fun to chat with new folks and you never know what you might learn over lunch!

6) Write an article for The Hillholder—You don't have to be a great author to create an article for our Chapter newsletter. We all have interesting Studebaker stories and experiences that other members will probably enjoy hearing about. Charlotte is always happy for new material and she's a great editor (trust me!).

7) Learn more about your car—As many of you know, I'm certainly not an ace mechanic. But, we have many club members who are...and who are also willing to share advice and expertise. For me, it's interesting and rewarding to learn more about how my Stude operates (and how to keep it running smoothly!). Some members can also help with parts sourcing or the loan of special tools.

8) Attend a Regional or National SDC Meet—If you've never attended one of the larger Zone or National meetings, you're really missing out. Lots of new cars to look over, interesting new people to meet and usually plenty of activities, good meals, parts vendors, etc. I hope to do a better job of this in 2014 and envy friends like the Lee's and Edward Burris who are able to experience so many of these great events!

Well, I suspect that's enough to get everyone thinking. Have a wonderful Holiday and let's strive for an even more productive and more enjoyable SDC year in 2014! See you in January.
